Mass die-offs of coho salmon ^{G. AMATO 2(2)} in creeks linked to tire chemical

BY ROSANNA XIA
LOS ANGELES TIMES

When officials in Seattle spent millions of dollars restoring the creeks along Puget Sound — tending to the vegetation, making the streambeds less muddy, building better homes for fish — they were thrilled to see coho salmon reappear.

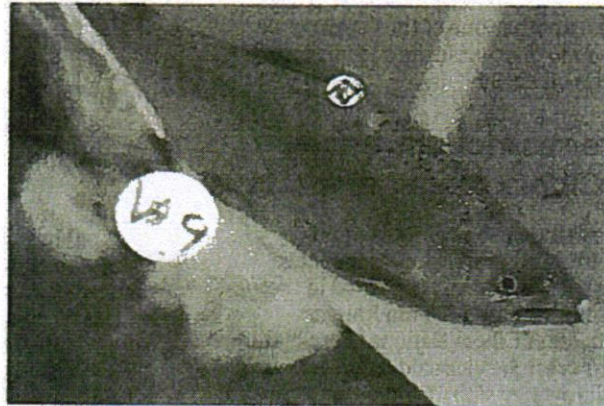

But when it rained, more than half, sometimes all, of the coho in a creek would suffer a sudden death.

These mysterious die-offs — an alarming phenomenon that has been reported from Northern California to British Columbia — have stumped biologists and toxicologists for decades. Numerous tests ruled out pesticides, disease and other possible causes, such as high temperatures and low dissolved oxygen.

Now, after 20 years of investigation, researchers in Washington state, San Francisco and Los Angeles say they have found the culprit: a very poisonous yet little-known chemical related to a preservative used in car tires.

This chemical is just one of a vast number of contaminants that wash off roads whenever it rains. This giant soup of pollutants, which includes trillions of microplastics, rushes down drains and into creeks and ultimately into the sea.

"We pretty much figured out that anywhere there's a road and people are driving their car, little bits of tire

ROBERT GAUTHIER/LOS ANGELES TIMES

Hatcheries in California have been raising tens of thousands of coho salmon to release into creeks. A tire preservative has been blamed for mass die-offs of the fish.

end up coming off your tire and end up in the stormwater that flows off that road," said Ed Kolodziej, an environmental engineer and chemist at the University of Washington, Tacoma/Seattle, whose lab led a study that was published Thursday in the journal Science. "We were able to get all the way down to this one highly toxic chemical — something that kills large fish quickly and we think is probably found on every single busy road in the world."

Coho salmon, also known as silver salmon, are prized among fishermen and an important indicator species — the canary in the coal mine for coastal watersheds along the northern Pacific. Their range has historically stretched from the creeks nestled in the redwood forests near Santa Cruz all the way north to the waters of Alaska. The few coho populations that still exist in California are either endangered or threatened.

The scientists in Washington state spent years studying dozens of streams — looking for patterns and comparing samples from pristine creeks, to those in more urban areas. They narrowed the culprit down to stormwater, then to creeks that were near busier roads, and finally to the wear and tear of car tires.

Researchers then soaked tire bits in room temperature water for about 24 hours. As many as 2,800 chemicals would leach out and, using high-resolution mass spectrometry, the team methodically identified and analyzed these compounds.

The smoking gun turned out to be related to a chemical called 6PPD, which is essentially a preservative to keep car tires from breaking down too quickly. When 6PPD hits the road and reacts with ozone gas, the chemical transforms into multiple new chemicals, including a compound known as 6PPD-quinone.

"Now that they've gotten it nailed down to one compound — that's amazing. It's also really helpful that something could be done about it," said Joe Dillon, who specializes in water quality and toxicology for NOAA Fisheries. "This means the tire industry can work on figuring out how to replace that compound with something less toxic. It means they can be pushed by the state of California or by nongovernmental organizations to undertake that work."

Matt St. John, executive officer of California's Regional Water Quality Control Board on the north coast, home to most of the remaining coho salmon in California, said he'd like to start monitoring for this chemical in creeks to determine what further action is needed.

"The study is definitely an eyebrow-raiser," he said. "When you find a causal link like this that is controllable, we need to take this type of information seriously."

MY CONTENTION IS THAT FOLKS LIKE BIDEN AND TRUMP FOR ONE EXAMPLE ARE ON THE SAME TEAM ONLY IN DIFFERENT POSITIONS.

In this hour when Treachery prevails Most Americans seem to NOT perceive the Real and Present Danger to the GOOD PEOPLE of this NATION. We have staged scripted, orchestrated events highly publicized for perverse purpose. Take, for example, Trump antics about increasing the $600 payout to a $2000. The media mouthpieces extolled it as a real concern on Trump's part for the downtrodden. The charade is convoluted so the discerning intellect, under Holy Spiritual Enlightenment, can perceive the deceptive maneuvers but to untangle the nuance is "work". Then the police killings with agent provocateurs mobilizing meaningless as far as effecting any genuine change - protests that also are highly advertised in media and give no real documented info as to cause and effect. All for advancing total control of all local police powers under a Central Authority, "Central Command" controlled by B.A.R. Association. OPERATIVES rooted in the British Empire. Recall the 1500's revolt of the British nobility which produced the Magna Carta and included the Sheriff answerable to the People. THE POSSE COMMUNITATUS [possibility of community in action] and ON AND ON. ENOUGH OF US HAVE TO "GET IT" OR WE'VE "HAD" IT

 1945, the U.S. government detonated the first nuclear device, a bomb called "The Gadget," at the Trinity Site near South Central, New Mexico, as part of the Manhattan Project. The blast dispersed radioactive fallout into the atmosphere, which fell back to the earth and damaged the environment, including soil, water, plants, air, animals, and humans. The health impact of this test has never been assessed until now.

Major Concerns

Americans were the first to be exposed, unwilling, and sustained casualties of an atomic bomb in the world's largest nuclear experiment. HOW MANY WINDERS? government did not warn or protect nearby residents before or after the test. WERE CATHOLIC CHRISTIANS. This is pervasive in Lincoln, Otero, and Socorro counties.

Community members have voiced concern regarding the correlation between radiation exposure from the Trinity Test and increased cancer rates.

RECA AUGUST 1945
 In 1990, the U.S. government created the Radiation Exposure Compensation Act (RECA) to compensate people affected by U.S. nuclear testing. Individuals who were made sick or disabled while living downwind from the Nevada Nuclear Test Site comprise one of the groups included under RECA. The fund has paid out $2 billion in reparations to downwinders in parts of Nevada, Utah, Idaho, and Colorado but never to New Mexico downwinders.

Small cells have all the same characteristics of the classic base stations that have been used by telecom companies for years.

However, they are uniquely capable of handling high data rates for mobile broadband and consumers and, for IoT, high densities of low speed, low power devices. This feature makes them perfect for 5G rollout.

The University of New Mexico recently signed an agreement with Verizon to install 25 small cell nodes on upgraded Code Blue poles across main, north, and south campus to further enhance campus safety with improved wireless connectivity.

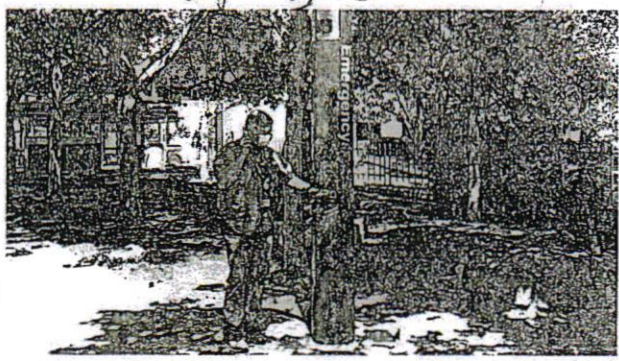

But NO mention

Small cells are just like the name implies – short-range cell sites used to complement traditional macro cell towers in a smaller geographic area ranging from a few hundred feet to upwards of 1,000 feet. These lower-power antennas enhance capacity in high traffic areas, dense urban areas, suburban neighborhoods, college campuses, and more. Small cells use small radios and small antennas placed on existing structures including utility poles and street lights. and now on Code Blue poles at UNM.

UNM has upgraded Code Blue stations across main, north, and south campus to further enhance campus safety.

"This project is a two-fold win for The University of New Mexico," said Mark Reynolds, IT Voice associate director. "First, the emergency phones in the designed locations will be replaced with a new blue pole structure, lights, and faceplate. Secondly, the addition of the small cell technology will be deployed at the twenty-five sites across the main, north, and south campuses where Code Blue poles have been located."

The agreement, which incorporated feedback from various UNM departments including information technologies, real estate, and legal, brings the small cell network to campus to improve overall wireless coverage along with other technological benefits. Moreover, the UNM campus will benefit from the new Code Blue poles that will be installed as part of this project.

THE EMERGENCY POLES

"With data usage growing exponentially each year, densifying our network with small cells helps meet the capacity demands of today and tomorrow," said Desmond Jackbir, director of Network Engineering, Verizon Wireless. "It's fitting that we are upgrading the Code Blue stations. We build reliability into every aspect of our wireless network to keep customers connected when you need it most."

Reynolds summed up the project saying, "the benefits from this project will enable the University to be better served for cellular coverage for the thousands of visitors, staff, faculty, and students. From the safety aspect, this will allow better triangulation for 911 and first responders, city police, and the University Police. Having the cellular signal closer to the handset will assist the dispatcher in GPS coordinates for location information in the event of an emergency."

CPOA Board – Outreach Subcommittee Report

The Outreach committee met via Zoom on January 26, 2021.

1. Director Harness provided an update on the following topics:
 - Kelley Mensah
 - o Now has a zoom license for use by CPCs
 - o Will begin the process of reviewing applications for the CPC Admin Assistant position.
 - SW CPC held a special meeting to assess and possibly appoint a new member via a member's private Zoom link.
 - o Ed sent an email to the CPCs discouraging the use of private zoom accounts.
 - o There was some push back and conversation about the role of the CPOA with regards to the CPCs as the Ordinance is silent on this topic.
 - The Council of Chairs met to discuss drafting an MOU to present to Ed on the role of the CPOA regarding the CPCs
 - CPC Guidelines will be sent to City Council for their review the week of 2/1/2021.

2. Director Harness is looking at the training requirements and onboarding materials to determine how we might be able to break up presentation of the materials into smaller bites so that it is not quite so overwhelming.
 - We would encourage board members to review the materials in the share drive for what worked well and what did not in the onboarding process.
 - Any other insights to members own onboarding experience would also be welcomed as we continue this process.

3. The subcommittee will be reviewing the current complaint brochure in circulation to ensure that it hasn't gone stale.

4. Member Nixon provided a draft media policy that will be up for discussion in February.

The next meeting of the Outreach Subcommittee will be held via Zoom on February 23rd, 2021 at 3:00 PM.

February 2021 Policy and Procedure Review Subcommittee Report

SOP 1-28 Downtown Unit –

Sgt. Matthew Tinney was invited to give a report on the Downtown Unit. Prior to his assignment to this unit, he served in the Crisis Intervention Teams for several years. The Downtown Unit was established primarily at the request of the business community to deal with issues that affected downtown businesses. It has since been expanded to deal with residential issues in the area as well such as pedestrian safety. A significant fraction of the non-arrest contacts deals with homeless persons. Committee member questions focused on whether this use of resources by APD was fair to other Area Commands in the city who might have similar needs and whether these activities might transfer to alternative social programs in the city.

Policies presented at OPA:

SOP 2-36 Police Press Relations and Release of Police Identification. Presented by Gilbert Gallegos, Director of Communications. The purpose of this policy is to determine how to best communicate with the public what APD is doing without interfering with investigations.

SOP 2-64 Violence Intervention Program Custom Notification Deliveries Presented by Sgt. Gerard Bartlett and Deputy Commander Jason Jonopolis. This is a new policy which creates a team from APD and City Family and Community services to intervene in situations where an individual is at risk current or future engagement in violence in the community. The team makes personal visits to the individual to offer option for the individual to pursue.

Policies reviewed at PPRB: All Policies were advanced to the 30 day recommendation period.

SOP 3-12 Awards and Recognition – This policy focuses on the timely recognition of superior performance by both sworn and civilian employees of APD. There had been a large backlog of awards that are written into the policy.

SOP 3-6 Language and Access Policy and SOP 2-65 Language Access Procedure – These related policies formalize a program of providing language translation and interpretation to individuals and witnesses encountered during an investigation.

Selected SOPs

SOP 3-52 Policy Development Process. APD Deputy Commander Sean Waite reported that OPA has answered questions from city legal earlier this week regarding changes to the current policy. They anticipate presenting this soon at an upcoming OPA meeting.

SOP 3-20 Overtime, Compensatory Time, and Work Shift Designation. Ali Abbasi reviewed the policy brief he had written entitled “Police Officer’s Overtime and Little Known Consequences: How Incorporating Several Recommendations can Deliver Promising Outcomes.” This policy remains under consideration for recommendations. The Chair requested that the subcommittee members each bring their suggested recommendations to the next PnP meeting in anticipation of this policy coming to the PPRB.

3. SOP 1-64 K-9 Unit/SOP 2-23 Use of K9 Unit. At the January meeting of the PnP, it was decided to invite a representative from APD to discuss the Canine policies. That was postponed until the March PnP meeting.

Other Business:

Copies of selected bills were sent to the PnP and POB that affect APD and have been introduced in the session of the New Mexico Legislature.

HB 4 New Mexico Civil Rights Act dealing with qualified immunity for public officials, including law enforcement.

SB 227 Inspection Of Police Misconduct Investigation which provides for the inspection of law enforcement misconduct investigations; requires reporting of officer-involved injuries or deaths; amends the crime of justifiable homicide by a public officer or public employee; enacts the law enforcement officer procedures act; regulates the use of physical force by officers; establishes a duty of officers to intervene; requires use of force policies; prescribes standards for serving search warrants. This bill would require law enforcement agencies to adopt many of the use-of-force policies and de-escalation practices that APD has developed under the CASA.

Next Meeting March 4, 2021

Personnel Committee Report

January Meeting Date: 1/25/21

The committee met on 1/25/21. The committee met with the CPC Council of Chairs and agreed to follow up with the Council in 1-2 months after the Council had additional time to draft an MOU and determine the characteristics of their relationship with the agency. Some members appeared receptive to the committee making a proposal as to how to include CPC's in the evaluation, so that they could comment/review. The committee received a report from Director Harness on staffing and other requests made of the Director by the board. One member of the board had not yet responded to the evaluation survey so action on the evaluation was delayed. Members agreed to hold a special meeting in early February to work on the 2020 Executive Director Evaluation and finalize the evaluation in committee at the February 22nd committee meeting.

Next Meeting: February 22nd @4PM
